How sessions take place

[Session formats]

The length and fee of each type of appointment are on the fees and insurance page.

Confidentiality

What you discuss is kept confidential. There are limits that apply to every registered psychologist: information may have to be shared if there is a serious risk of harm to you or to someone else, or if the law or a court requires it. Wherever it is possible and safe, this would be discussed with you first.

You can ask about these limits at any point, including before you book.

WHAT TO EXPECT

From first appointment to ending

1

The first appointment

A conversation about what has brought you, what you hope might change, and whether working together feels right for you.

2

Working together

You agree together what you would like to work on and how. Along the way you review how things are going, and adjust the plan if it would help.

3

Ending

You are free to stop at any point. Before finishing, you can look back together at what has helped and what you would like to take forward.

Taking the first step

Book a first appointment online. If you are not sure whether this is the right service for you, you can ask a question first.
